My Brother Rick was a good man, he and my sister-in-law Gloria made a wonderful couple. They raised great daughters who each have given Rick and Gloria the Grandchildren they love. Throughout the past few years Rick and I became a lot closer. I realized what a special person he is. He truly loved his family, he was a hard worker, he always provided for them. He loved those Grandchildren. I'm thankful they will all have memories of being with their papaw. I love you brother, I know we didn't tell each other that often enough but I'm happy that we know we were loved. I will see him again someday.

I haven't seen Rick in quite a long time, but I'll always remember his smiling face jumping out of one of the cleanest concrete trucks in the fleet. As the salesman for his area, I'll also always remember the question I constantly got from our Customers: "Why does it always seem that on my every job, Rick Kirby is the first driver on the job?" My answer was the same each time... "No matter what time he was scheduled to start, early or late, Kirby was always on time, and then, so were we." Go with God my friend.

Rick was always more than just someone I worked with, he was a friend and one of the few people here that knew what I meant when I referenced something about Gunsmoke, Wagon Train or the Rifleman. I will miss our talks.
