I wrote on another site that I was hoping this wasn't your bccbirth date I thought was incorrect... anyway you moved in beside me a year or 2 after I bought my house. i am going to miss you Antonio and will always remember you for your kindness..you did without so much on this earth I pray God gives you the best house, the biggest tv to watch the games, the coolness of wherever your new house will be, the heat and act to turn on whenever you want, the best friends to love you to hang out with the sun to sit out in the best fan to keep you cool and all your relatives and loved ones to laugh and enjoy and the most comfortable bed to sleep in to just take a nap and a body that feels no more pain, hair so you won't have to wear that stupid hat and God Jesus and the Holy Spirit to always feel their love..people who moved into your house are a young couple who yesterday put up a pool and then placed your chair in front of it .. remember how I talked about that for my yard and you could come over and go in,never got around to doing that.we'll see you later Antonio I love you.Antoinette so much more to say wish you were here ❤️
