Yolanda, I was so sorry to hear of your recent loss of your mother. Terry and I both immediately remembered our mothers sitting together, presiding as the matriarchs at your wedding celebration! They are both gone now, but their pain and suffering is over. If only we could see them reveling in His light, but we can just hope to join them one day. God's love to you and your family. Mami: I will never forget the time you chased me all over the place with that huge spider on a stick. You knew I hated spiders, and as I fled you would chase me around with it, laughing the whole time. It was a fun, but scary time I'll never forget. I also will always remember our (you, me, and Yolanda) drives on the back roads of Florida together just enjoying the day, and how much you would hate to go back home. I certainly can't forget the good time we had going to Arcadia where I was raised. It always gave me great pleasure to see how much you enjoyed all those trips! Never mind the first time you ever met me when Yolanda and I went to PR to visit you! Sorry I didn't leave a good impression, but I did fall in love with your toilet! We'll keep that a secret between you and me. There are so many more memories I could talk about, but I'll stop now, and forever carry them in my heart. I will miss you, and will carry you in my heart until we meet in that heavenly home. Rest in Peace! Dear One!Your Son-In-Law,Ken

Thank you Ken, I remember that day as well. You picked up Olivia as a protection, thinking that Mami would stop chasing you. We will miss her dearly!
